Legal Internship Summer 2019

PRRAC is currently seeking law student interns for the summer of 2019. The legal interns will assist with our array of work on housing, environmental health, and education issues. The interns will work closely with PRRAC staff on projects likely to include: developing detailed legal and policy analysis of federal housing and education programs; helping to draft PRRAC advocacy letters, reports, and policy briefs; supporting legislative and regulatory advocacy; working with the PRRAC Social Science Advisory Board and tracking new social science research relevant to PRRAC policy goals; and supporting PRRAC coalition work (including the National Coalition on School Diversity, www.school-diversity.org)

Applicants should have strong writing skills, intellectual curiosity, and motivation to work for civil rights. Interest in housing, education, regulatory advocacy, and the intersection of law and social science is important for our work, though no specific background in those areas is required.

To apply for this position, please send a resume, cover letter, and writing sample to Peter Kye at pkye@prrac.org.
